DEPARTMENT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND EUROPEAN STUDIES

The department combines multidisciplinary international relations trainings with area expertise. The programs equip students with the analytical skills to capture the complexity of global and regional politics, and with the practical skills required on the job market. Our faculty members are trained in international relations, political science, law, economics, sociology, and history. CEU’s program has ranked among the world’s top 100 for four consecutive years in the Quacquarelli Symonds (QS) Politics and International Studies subject ranking.

CAREER PATH

Our graduates join a network of over 900 alumni. The majority of master’s program alumni, who hail from 70 countries, work in international and non-governmental organizations, international business, political consultancy, and journalism. Doctoral graduates hold teaching and/or research positions in academia or work in the private sector.

NASIBA AMANOVA
COUNTRY OF ORIGIN: TURKMENISTAN

“I grew so much this year. Before CEU, I aspired to study the U.S. and Europe but at IRES I learned that I would like to contribute more to where I come from: Central Asia. Through IRES, I gained a better understanding of my own region. Furthermore, without a shadow of doubt, the one-year MA program at IRES allowed me to refine and improve in areas that are fundamental in today’s job market.”

MASTER OF ARTS IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND EUROPEAN STUDIES (ONE YEAR)

This program provides students with a foundation in international relations, plus exposure to questions relating to the study of international security and the global economy. International relations training is combined with regional expertise in the study of the European Union, East Asia, the Middle East, and the post-Soviet space. The program offers an innovative, dynamic learning environment with small class sizes and an interdisciplinary curriculum.
